Main characteristics/features

Chanthaboon mats (Suer Chantaboon) are made of hand-woven reeds and jute. As well as mats, other products are also made using this method.

Geographical area

Chanthaboon mats are made using old traditional methods in the Mueang Chanthaburi, Laem Sing, Khlung, Tha Mai, Na Yai Am, and Makham districts in Chanthaburi province.

Production/processing

Link between product and territory

In the reed and jute plantation areas, which are the main raw materials of Chanthaboon mats, the soil is acidic and salty. These factors make the reeds grown in the area long, sticky, shiny and smooth and enable them to be separated into thin strips.
